I'm not a great spreadsheet guy, so will ask rather than open - did you set the spreadsheets to show the total number of comments represented in those records?

YES

And do you know approximately how long it would take to do the FDMS entries?

Probably one person two days.

On that, I'm thinking about how many people will be needed.

And lastly, are the Obama mailings on one spreadsheet or scattered throughout?

There is only one spreadsheet, and they are scattered. But it's easy enough to resort it to group them together.

I'm attaching a pdf of the original spreadsheet, and another file showing the Obama entries.

Here is a spreadsheets showing the individual records entered in regs.gov where there is more than one commenter represented.

I've got is sorted by commenter count, but since its in Excel, it can be sorted in many ways.

There's a link to the actual comment on regs.gov. I've looked at every attachment that wasn't an image file to validate the number of commenters represented.

I also indicated the records that are full of postcards/letters to Obama.

What should happen is that each of these records should be opened in FDMS and enter the number of commenters in the field that records that data. Every time you do that, the number in the upper corner of regs.gov will go up by that count. (That number is refreshed only once a day at midnight, so it would be the next day you would see this happen.)

Next we tackle the remaining records.
